It seems that it is a hard matter to get a Vance here, male or female.

Caucus Last Night.

The Senate and House held a joint caucus last night, and John N. Staples, Esq., of Guilford, was elect-ed president. This is an honorable distinction, conferred upon an emi-nently deserving gentleman. The joint caucus elected Mr. Granger, of Beaufort, enrolling clerk.

The House caucused, before the joint caucus, and chose the remain-ing offices of that body. Mr. J. P. Norton, of McDowell, was elected as-sistant door-keeper. Mr. W. J. Bar-rett, of Lenoir, was elected engross-ing clerk.

There will be a joint caucus to-night on the question of the United States Senatorship, which comes up for action next Tuesday.

Settling Sheriffs.

The sheriffs are coming up to the scratch right nobly just now. Two settled yesterday, to-wit: Joseph G. Neal, sheriff of McDowell, who paid into the treasury the sum of $1,650.-87, divided as follows: general tax, $830.56; special taxes, $800.27; tax for the educational fund, $20.04.

Sheriff N. M. Wilson, of Yancy, also settled, paying in a total of $763.-91, thus: general tax, $417; special, $342.64; educational, $4.27.

Convicted and Appealed.

We learn that Allen Carter, who killed a man named Lilly in Stanly county, was convicted last week in Richmond Court of murder in the first degree, and appealed to the Su-preme Court. He fled the State after the homicide, and was taken in Ar-kansas upon a requisition from the Governor of this State. He moved his trial from Stanly to Montgomery and thence to Richmond, where he has just been convicted.

Our New State Treasurer.

The Governor will this morning issue his commission, and Dr. John M. Worth will take charge of the State Treasury to-day. He will be sworn in by Hon. Edwin G. Reade, Justice of the Supreme Court. Hon. David A. Jenkins, the retiring treas-urer, has made a capable and honest officer. He is entitled to the thanks of the people of the State for the man-ner in which he has administered the office since it came into his hands.

Of Dr. Worth it is needless to speak. The name is known through-out the length and breadth of the State, and there is no name which is more revered by the people. He is an able financier, a thoroughly honest man, and in all respects a true hearted son of North Carolina. He will adorn the office and serve his people well.

It pleases us to know that Dr. Worth will retain in the office, that estimable gentleman and experienced business man, Donald W. Bain, Esq., who has for so long been chief clerk of the treasury department; and that he will also retain for the present, A. D. Jenkins, Esq., who has been the teller of the department for eight years past, and who has made many friends, not only in his official capac-ity, but by his urbanity in all the relations of life.

News From Florida.

What did we tell you! Didn't we say that yesterday was the day for Tilden to be elected again? So it was, and yesterday afternoon Gen. Cox re-ceived the telegram which is pub-lished in another column. When the news of it got abroad, it caused a mighty shout at the Yarborough House, and the Democrats were in the highest kind of glee. We are sorry for it, but really we see very little in that telegram to raise Dem-ocratic hopes. It is no more than we have heard from the first, viz: that Florida has voted Democratic. How the votes were cast, however, is one thing; how they will be coun-ted is quite another.

Alarms of Fire.

The fire bell sounded the alarm yesterday morning about 7 o'clock, creating the usual amount of bustle incidental to its dread strokes. The alarm proceeded from the kitchen on the premises of Mrs. Pullen, the roof of which had ignited. A few buckets of water, judiciously applied, extinguished the flames and the ex-citement subsided very speedily.

Another small fire took place at 11 o'clock A. M. A spark set fire to the roof of the residence of Mr. J. W. Watson, on Newbern Avenue, creat-ing some commotion in that neigh-borhood. It was extinguished be-fore the fire department could turn out.

Death on the Rail.

A white man named Henry Per-kinson, came to a tragic end at Kit-trells, on the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad, Monday night. He was addicted to drink, and being under the influence of liquor that night, laid down and went to sleep on the railroad track. A material train which passed shortly afterward, ran over him and cut him all to pieces. When the train coming this way passed Kittrells yesterday, the remains were lying on a rail litter, covered by a quilt, waiting for the coming of the coroner.

Canvass of the Vote.

The sheriffs of the counties com-posing this congressional district, to-wit: Chatham, Nash, Johnston, Wake, Orange, Granville and Frank-lin, met in this city yesterday and counted the vote for congressmen. The meeting was held at the Court House, and ten electors were called in to witness the count. The votes were counted out in the presence of these. It was found that Davis' ma-jority over Young is 1,603 votes. His majority over Headen was 1,618. So Young has the consolation of know-ing that he is 15 votes ahead of Headen.

A Mysterious Occurrence on the High-Way.

A few nights ago, Hilman Keith, who lives in New Light Township, this county, was found on the road near his residence, in a terribly man-gled condition. His eyes were near-ly out, his chin was split, both jawbones were broken, was black and bruised from his waist. He was house, where he since in a speechless is not able to tell came to be in such and his friends can the cause which led tune.

Deputy Sheriff Emory, of fax, brought five convicts to Monday evening. They were in the county jail that night, yesterday morning were convey the penitentiary.

Deputy Sheriff M. L. Mason, Gaston, arrived in the city yester-b inging to the penitentiary convicts.

Senator Robins, of Randolph, thought the matter should be attend-ed to at once. While a debate con-cerning the matter was in progress,

The door-keeper announced a mes-sage from the House. The messen-ger was invited to come forward.

The message was read announcing that the House had completed its or-ganization yesterday.

Before further action was taken, another message was received from the same body, announcing the fol-lowing as the joint committee on the part of the House to wait upon His Excellency the Governor and notify him of its readiness to receive any communication from him: Mr. Car-ter, of Hyde, Mr. Rose, of Cumber-land and Mr. Hayes, of Perquimons.

It also asked for concurrence in a bill which had passed that body to amend sec. 4, chap. 22, Battle's Revi-sal, changing the time for the meet-ing of sheriffs to count the vote from the third Tuesday in August to the third Tuesday in November.

Upon motion of Senator Troy, the rules were suspended and the bill passed its several readings.

Another message has been received from the House, amending the pre-vious bill in such manner as to make the act apply to elections heretofore held under the acts of 1874-'75, chang-ing the election in 1876 from August to November, and to supply an omis-sion in said act respecting the time of comparison of polls, &c.

The Senate unanimously concurred in the House amendment.

Senator Graham made a motion that a message be sent to the House informing it that this body was or-ganized yesterday, and would meet it at 12 M. to-day to count the vote. Adopted.

BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS.

By Senator Folk, of Caldwell: A bill changing the time for the count of the vote from Tuesday after the organization of the General Assembly to Monday after such organization.

Senator Sandifer, of Gaston, moved to further amend by striking out all in the first section after the words Monday after the organization of the two Houses.

The bill passed its third and final reading.

After the adjournment of the joint session, the Senate re-assembled.

Upon motion of Senator Stanford, the bill introduced by Senator Fin-ger, for the repeal of the usury law, was ordered to be printed.

The Senate then, upon motion, ad-journed to 3:15 P. M.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The unfinished business, the reso-lution of Senator Albright, came up for consideration. He urged its pas-sage.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

SECOND DAY.

At 10 a. m. Mr. Speaker Price called the House to order.

The Journal of yesterday was read and approved.

Messrs. Fox, of Randolph; Sam-, of Buncombe; McDubbins, of Rowan; Wilson, of Burke; Wilson, of Tran-sylvania; Bryson, of Jackson; Er-ving, of Montgomery; Williamson, col., of Franklin; Yount, of Catawba; Austin, of Union; Ardrey, of Meck-lenburg; Crews, col., of Granville; Rogers, col., of Granville; Sharpe, of Iredell; Gaither, of Iredell; Heap, of Mitchell; and Cary, col., of Cas-well, came forward, presented their certificates of election and were duly qualified.

A message was received from the Senate informing the House of the organization of that body and of their readiness to proceed to business

On motion of Mr. Moring, a mes-sage was sent to the Senate inform-ing that body of the organization of the House and of its readiness to proceed with the public business.

Mr. Carter, of Hyde, moved to ap-point a committee of three to wait on the Governor to inform him of the organization of the House and its readiness to receive any communica-tion he might see fit to make. The motion was adopted.

Mr. Ransom moved to adopt tem-porarily the rules of the last House.

Mr. Moring offered as a substitute for Mr. Ransom's motion a resolu-tion raising a committee of five to draft rules for the permanent govern-ment of the House, and adopting the rules of the last House until the adoption of others.

The substitute was adopted, and the question recurring on the resolution it was also adopted.

Mr. Gudger called attention to the fact that the committee to wait on the Governor, just ordered under the motion of Mr. Carter, should be made a joint one of three on the part of the House and two on the part of the Senate, and a message sent to the Senate asking concurrence therein.

Mr Carter, of Hyde, amended his motion in accordance with the sug-gestion, and the message was so sent to the Senate.

The Speaker appointed Messrs. Carter, of Hyde, Rose and Bagley as the House branch of the proposed joint committee.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS.

By Lloyd, col., a bill to extend the time of J. B. McPherson, tax collec-tor of Pender county. Placed on cal-endar.

By Mr. Parrish, a bill to amend section 4, chapter 22, Battle's Revisal. [The bill strikes out in lines 2 and 3 the words "Third Thursday of Augus" and inserts the words "Third Tuesday in November." This bill is in reference to the law in regard to the meeting of sheriffs to compare returns of the Congressional elec-tions.]

On motion of Mr. Parrish the rules were suspended and the bill passed its second reading.

The rules were again suspended and the bill came up on its third reading.

Mr Staples moved to amend by saying that this bill is intended to apply to elections heretofore held under act of 1874-'75, changing the election of 1876 from August to No-vember, and to supply an omission in said act respecting the time of com-parison of polls &c.

The amendment was adopted and the bill passed its third reading, and was ordered to be sent to the Senate without engross-

[illegible]ved from the [illegible]e concurrence [illegible]position for a [illegible] wait on the Gov-[illegible] Messrs. Coke and [illegible] Senate branch of [illegible] rules were suspended and the bill taken up on its second reading.

[illegible]of Mr. Graves a mes-[illegible]nt to the Senate propos-[illegible]session at 12 M to can-[illegible]s for State [illegible]

Mr. Vaughn urged the immediate pas-sage of the bill as a matter of re-lief not only to the officers named, but to the people. If some such re-lief measure was not adopted distress would be caused in his section of the country. Times, in a financial point of view, were hard in his section, and it was a matter of impossibility for the sheriffs and collectors to get the money in time to settle in accordance with the present law.

Mr. Moring was opposed to such a sweeping bill, and moved to refer to the committee on finance. He would be in favor of extending the time in meritorious cases, but did not like to rush such a sweeping bill through in hot haste.

Mr. Staples thought the better ref-erence would be to the Judiciary Committee, as legal points were likely to be involved. A case was already pending in the Supreme Court as to whether these extensions of time vitiated the responsibilities of su-re ies

Mr. Moring accepted the amend-ment as to the reference.

Mr. Gudger thought the bill ought to pass at once. The people needed this relief. He moved to strike out the word 'collection."

Mr. Carter, of Buncombe, was in favor of some measure of relief, but thought it best that it should be done, in detail, in meritorious cases.

Mr. Cobb thought the bill too sweep-ing in its operations, and would be likely to open the door to fraud. Sheriffs that had already collected might refuse to settle and place the money in some bank and draw inter-est upon it.

Mr. Vaughn accepted Mr. Gudger's proposed amendment in regard to striking out the word "collection."

Mr. Moring's resolution to refer to the Judiciary was put and rejected.

Mr. Moring again occupied the floor in opposition to the measure.

A number of sheriffs had already made their collections and the State treasury ought not to be deprived of the money by the passage of this bill. He would not oppose any in-dulgence in cases of merit. Mr. Moring concluded his remarks by moving to postpone the further con-sideration of the bill until Monday next at 12 M.

Mr. Vaughn opposed any postpone-ment. Such action would nullify the intent of the bill. He again urged its passage as a measure of re-lief to the people of his section of the country.

Mr. Bledsoe was compelled to op-pose the bill. Its perview was too extensive. He would join gentle-men in measures of relief in cases of merit, &c.

Mr. Moring's motion to postpone was put and carried.

Mr. Carter, of Hyde, from the com-mittee appointed to wait on the Gov-ernor, reported that the committee had performed the duty assigned them, and that the Governor would communicate with the House at 12 m.

By Mr. Purnell: A bill to repeal the act regulating the rate of interest (known as the "Usury Bill.") The bill was placed on the calendar.

Lloyd, col'd, moved to suspend the rules and take up his bill to extend the time of J. B. McPherson, tax collector of Pender county. Lost.

Leave of absence for 10 days was granted Mr. Russell.

On motion of Mr. Gudger, a recess of 10 minutes was taken in order to make preparations for the joint ses-sion, for the purpose of canvassing the returns of the election of State officers.

At the expiration of the recess the Speaker again called the House to order.

By Mr. Rose, a bill to extend the time for the registration of deeds and other conveyances. Placed on the calendar.

THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

A message was announced from the Governor. Upon the invitation of the Speaker the Private Secretary of the Governor entered bearing the annual message of his Excellency.

The document was handed to the assistant clerk to read.

The clerk had read but a few lines, when, Mr. Richardson moved to dis-pense with the further reading and transmit to the Senate with a propo-sition to print. He said the time for the joint session was too near to pro-ceed further with the reading.

The motion was adopted.

THE JOINT SESSION.

At 12 m. the principal door-keeper announced the approach of the Sen-ate, and that honorable body entered the hall and took the seats prepared for them, being received with the honors usual on such occasions.

After the confusion incident to the simultaneous enterance into the hall of so large a body had subsided, the canvass of the official returns from the various counties commenced.

The vote of 26 counties had been counted, when, on motion of Mr. Henderson, of Rowan, the joint ses-sion took a recess until 3 p. m.

The Senate retired to its chamber and the House was called to order by Mr. Speaker Price.

On motion of Mr. Singeltary, the House then adjourned until 3:15 p. m.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

According to adjournment Mr. Speaker Price called the House to or-der at 3:15.

By Mr. Linebaek, a bill exempt-ing from taxation personal property to the value of $300. Placed on the calendar.

By Mr. Rose, a resolution in favor of R. W. Hardie, Sheriff of Cumber-land county. Referred to the com-mittee on Finance.

A message was received from the Senate concurring in the House prop-osition to print the message of the Governor.

JOINT SESSION.

At 3:30 P. M., the expiration of the rec-s the Senate again entered House of Representa-[illegible]s of the offici[illegible] State offi-[illegible]eturn 764 [illegible] Smith [illegible]the vote was ordered to be placed to it-self.

By Mr Graves, of Surry, a resolu-sion raising a joint committee of three on the part of the House and two on the part of the Senate, to ex-amine the returns of sheriffs to ascertain and report to the joint ses-sion of the two Houses what returns are defective and what steps, if any, are necessary to be taken in accord-ance with law in order to correct, and for compelling or procuring re-turns from defaulting counties.

Mr. Bagley moved, as a substitute for the resolution, that all defective returns be laid aside as matter for future consideration.

On motion of Mr. Richardson, the whole matter was laid on the table.

Mr. Powell moved to take a recess until 10 a. m. to-morrow. The mo-tion was rejected.

The count was resumed and con-tinued until a number of counties had been counted, when, on motion of Mr. Powell, the joint assembly took a recess until to-morrow morn-ing at 10 o'clock.

The Senate returned to its cham-ber.

Mr. Speaker Price called the House to order.

On motion of Mr. Gudger, a mes-sage was sent to the Senate propos-ing to print 220 copies of the Gover-nor's message.

On motion of Mr. Gudger, the House adjourned until to-morrow morning at 5 minutes to 10 o'clock.

St. John's (Catholic) Society.

The following concerning a well known Catholic organization which is in existence in Raleigh, is from the Irish Catholic Benevolent Union Jour-nal, published in Philadelphia:

No. 361, St. John's Society, of Raleigh, N. C., was organized April 6th, 1876, and on July 4th, 1876, the society became one of practical Cath-olics, and thus befitted itself for en-rollment in the I. C. B. Union, to which it was affiliated November 1st, 1876. It numbers 17 members. The society has formed a library, and has one hundred volumes "of good Catholic books." Mass is celebrated once a month for the members of the society by the Spiritual Director, Rev. J. Reilley. The other offi-cers of the society are: M. B. Barbee, President; P. McGowan, Vice President; Lewis Labarbe, Re-cording Secretary; N. Plumador Financial and Corresponding Secre-tary; W. E. Barbee, Treasurer; M. B. Barbee, Librarian. Mr. Plumadore has been an earnest friend of the Union for a long time. Mr Dan-iel Regan, who was a delegate to the Rochester Convention from James-ton, N. Y., is now a resident of Ral-eigh.

Count of the Electoral Vote.

The count of the vote in the re-election for presidential electors commenced yesterday in the offi[illegible] the Secretary of State, by Dr. W[illegible] Howerton, Secretary of State, [illegible] His Excellency Gov. Brogden. [illegible] votes of quite a number of the co-ties are still lacking. The count [illegible] begun yesterday afternoon and c[illegible]-tinued in the evening, and then w[illegible] not finished. There is a defect j[illegible] here in the law on this subject. [illegible] provides that the returns shall be for-warded to the Secretary of State, and that the Governor shall proclaim the result of the count. No provisions are made as to who shall make the count.

Dr. DeRosset, of Wilmington, is at the Yarborough House.

J. A. Robinson, Esq., of the Ox-ford Torchlight is registered at the National Hotel.

Col. B. B. Lewis, of Macon Ga., is in the city, visiting relations.

Accepts the Appointment.

The Governor received yesterday, from W. T. Faircloth, Esq., of Wayne, his formal acceptance of the appointment which had been ten-dered him of the seat on the Supreme Court bench, made vacant by the resignation of Judge Settle. He will take upon himself the duties and honors of the office at the time of the meeting of the Supreme Court, the first week in January.

General Gox.

The Wilmington Cape Fear very properly remarks that to Gen. Wm. R. Cox a very large share of credit for the recent signal victory in North Carolina is due. From first to last Gen. Cox, assisted by his faithful and able lieutenant, Sam Ashe, was con-spicuous for his zeal, his courage and his ability. Let us honor those who deserve honor.—Charlotte Democrat.

The gentlemen who essayed to serenade Miss L., a few evenings since, should have had "clear" throats, and their efforts would have been better appreciated. Bull's Cough Syrup is the best remedy ex-tant for a "thick" or congested con-dition of the threat and bronchial inches, giving instant relief.

Messrs. Sanders & Co., seem to buy a great deal of cotton brought to this market and we suppose that they must pay very good prices to do so. The cheapest and best groceries are sold by the same firm.

Cotton Sale.

Eldridge Stewart, of Harnett coun-ty, brought to market yesterday morning, a lot of cotton, all of which he sold for 12½ cents. This cotton was ginned on the famous Gullet Steel Brush, for which Geo. T. Stron-ach & Co. are agents. Prof. Kerr, State Geologist, was so much pleased with the grade that he sent a sample to Australia.

THE NEWS has two libel suits pending against it, now, in a Radical court. One is brought by William H. Howerton, Republican Secretary of State, for the exposures which we made of his corruption in office. He wants Fifty Thousand Dollars for the damages we inflicted upon his "character." Tourgee, the boss of carpet-baggers, has brought suit against the NEWS for $30,000 damages to his character. It is an honor to be sued and abused by such characters.

...ern Southern Home makes the following suggestion:

There is likely to be difficulty in arranging legislation under the constitutional amendments, in some particulars. For instance, one amendment cuts down the number of Superior Court Judges to nine, yet declares that the present incumbents shall not be ousted, during their legal term. All of the present Judges have several years yet to serve, hence the cutting down must remain a nullity until the expiration of their terms.—Home.

There is some chance of "cutting down" under the old constitution.

THE NEWS was a target for the Radical papers of this State from the opening of the campaign to its end. Three of the lying sheets—the Raleigh Constitution, the Newbern Times, and the Magnolia Monitor—have gone under entirely. The Spirit of the South is reduced to a half sheet—the editor having hoisted the other half in the wind. We shall next hear of the Davidson Record being hauled off in a manure cart to the political bone-yard, where all those who had their hash settled in the last campaign lie buried. And, then, we may not be surprised to hear that Tom Keogh has rolled up his little ... a copy of the New North State, ...ed him in his carpet bag and ...ed with him from our midst, ...ever.

THE CONTEST FOR SPEAKERSHIP.

The contest just ended for the speakership of the House of Representatives is the most remarkable ever witnessed in North Carolina. The balloting began in Commons Hall at 10 A. M. on the 20th and closed after 6 P. M with a short recess at noon, resulting in the nomination of Hon. Chas. Price, of Davie. During the long, exciting, but friendly contest, the following gentlemen were placed in nomination: Messrs. Gudger, Roberts, Richardson, Ransom, Price, Staples, Moring, Graves, Henderson, Pinnix, Parish, McGehee and Carter. The number and prominence of the candidates is without precedent in the history of the State. Each was worthy of and would have honored the position. Each had devoted friends and zealous supporters. But we desire on this occasion to make special mention of Mr. Staples of Guilford.

During the long hours occupied in making the nomination, there were fifteen ballots, on each of which, with the exception of three, Mr. Staples had the strongest support and on several of these ballots his vote more than doubled that of any other two of the candidates.—Throughout he had a magnificent following and support, and one that any man in North Carolina might have been proud of; especially when we consider the names and reputation of the candidates for the position. On the 13th ballot the contest narrowed down to Mr. Gudger, Gen. Roberts and Mr. Staples; Mr. Gudger receiving 17 votes, Gen. Roberts 16 votes and Mr. Staples 33 votes. Just before the 14th ballot Mr. Price, who after the earlier ballots had continuously and faithfully supported Mr. Staples, was put in nomination; true to his friend, Mr. Price declined to allow his name to be used against Mr. Staples and withdrew it; Mr. Staples privately thanked him and said: "if I am not elected on the next ballot I will reciprocate the kindness and leave the field." On the 14th ballot Mr. Staples received 30 votes, and Mr. Gudger 30, and notwithstanding his withdrawal, 4 votes were cast for Mr. Price. And here followed a scene of chivalry unequalled in the annals of elections, and worthy the song of a Scott. The silent and grateful promise of Mr. Staples to his friend was unheard and unknown, except by Mr. Price himself. Mr. Staples had fought a splendid fight, candidate after candidate had left the field, until on the 13th ballot his vote equalled the combined vote of the other and only two opponents he had, and on the 14th ballot his vote equalled that of Mr. Gudger, his only and last opponent; and this gallant young leader from the mountains is a worthy competitor of any man for any position.

One vote could now bestow upon Mr. Staples one of the highest and most enviable positions a North Carolinian could aspire to. His friends were firm and confident of success; his opponents could but admire the faith these friends had kept and the unwavering support they had given Mr. Staples. He was congratulated on all sides, and many who had opposed and voted against him now came forward and assured him of their support, which rendered his election on the next ballot certain. He told them of his promise and was met with remonstrance but true to his word and his friend, when the time [came] on 15th ballot had come Mr. Staples arose, withdrew his own name from the contest, and generously gave his full support to his friend Mr. Price. Could he have been false to his friend and the honor within him the handsome and talented young representative from Guilford, would to-day be Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Mr Staples has failed to gain the desirable and exalted position his friends sought for him, which he was in every way worthy of, and to which his bright intellect and noble christian character would have brought a reputation second to none gained for it by any former illustrious Speaker; but wherever his splendid career in this contest and the manner in which he gave it up is heard of, he will gain a name and a fame more exalted and more to be desired than any official position could bestow upon him; and wherever honor, and truth and self-sacrificing generosity are appreciated and regarded, no name will be held in higher esteem than that of Hon. John N. Staples, of Guilford.

THE GOVERNOR'S INAUGURATION.

The inauguration of the Governor and State officers occurs now within the short space of six weeks. It has been suggested by the NEWS and other papers of the State that the occasion be made one of State importance. We hope and think that the suggestions made will be acted upon. Our people are much in the humor for signalizing in the most appropriate and positive manner the great and wonderful triumph of the Democracy in this State. And in no other way could the event be better illustrated and fixed in the history of the State than by a series of appropriate inaugural ceremonies.

There are other than merely partizan jollification reasons why the Governor should be hand... properly inaugu... great victory ri... party signifi...

It is the p...

over error, of virtue over vice, of intelligence over ignorance—a victory of the people for the people, the rescue of the State from evil, the successful grasping of good government and the dethronement of bad rule and corrupt power.

As such the good people of the State should all rejoice at the successful result just attained, and in the installation of the Governor and executive officers elect, opportunity should be given the whole people to participate in a grand State occasion, as the people of all parties have hitherto joined in the inaugural ceremonies of the President of the United States.

The subject of which we are treating, is, we learn, receiving the attention of the Tilden and Vance clubs of this city, and it has been proposed to have the usual torch-light procession give way to a grander demonstration on inauguration day. We trust that course will be pursued.

POLITICAL NOTES.

"And all Israel, from Dan to Beersheba, knew that Samuel was established to be a prophet of the Lord."

Chandler has added another vicious lie to the long catalogue recorded against him by denying that he told Kellogg that Louisiana "must be counted for Hayes." Chandler lies easily and smoothly.

The recent action of President Grant, which resulted in the liberation of the whisky crooks, Billy McKee, Con McGrew, Avery, Hesing, Rhem and others, must suggest to Mr. Bristow the futility of his ardent labors in behalf of "reform within the party" while he was Secretary of the Treasury.

The Democratic State Central Committee of Louisiana has properly notified the people of the necessity of "vigilantly watching night and day, the ballot boxes and returns lodged with the clerks of the district courts to prevent tampering therewith. They need watching under existing circumstances.

The Cincinnati Commercial says "We do not know any better work in which the army could be engaged than that of keeping the peace." The Supreme Court of the United States, and every intelligent person who has examined our institutions of government, is of a different opinion. If the army is to be converted into a standing police force, the sooner it is abolished the better will it be for the country.

The New York Tribune is foolish enough to say that "the colored population is quite as strong as ever in its attachment to the Republican party, whenever it has been permitted to vote freely." Will the Tribune explain the colored Democratic vote in South Carolina, Louisiana and Florida, where Grant sent regiment after regiment of soldiers for the express purpose of escorting Republican negroes to the polls?

The Union City (Tenn.) Herald has this to say on the political situation: Our cocks on the margin of notable wagdom crowded a still printer's ink while the wires of Sam darted in solitude success for the bull which butted the cattle on the rump for harmony, while both Houses of Congress will be able to collapse the executive, and in our opinion the thing was concocked by the poor calves of rumpdom before the cattle homed to bleat.

So eminent a lawyer as Senator Thurman holds the electors in Oregon and Vermont who have been elected with holding office, ineligible under the constitution. The republicans evidently fearing trouble have demanded their resignations, which have been forwarded by telegraph. But as the ineligibility arises at the time of voting resignation after the fact makes no change in the status of the case as such elector being inelligible, the office lapses to the man receiving the next highest vote to that received by the successful ticket.

The Hayes organs are once more bringing out the bloody shirt to fire the Northern heart. They have the wretched imbecility to tell their readers that "terrorism" and "intimidation" have brought about Democratic majorities in South Carolina. This is a candid confession that Hayes is beaten, and as for the intimidation part of the story, the readers of these organs have been assured all along that the presence of half the United States army in three States would necessarily secure a fair election. The Hayes people are "hoist by their own petard."

Congressman Mill on Sayler of Cincinnati, who hopes to be speaker, talks like an honest man and patriot about the presidential question. When asked by a reporter of the Commercial if he apprehended danger to the country from the present situation, he answered: "I do not. I have too much faith in the sober second thought of the American people. There are too many people who have property, own bonds, and are the fathers of children. We cannot afford to convert the United States into a second Mexico. In my judgment, whoever is fairly elected without taint or fraud, will be inaugurated peacefully, by the common consent of both parties."

GENERAL NOTES.

The trial of the seven million dollar suit against Peter B. Sweeney, in New York, has been postponed until the first Tuesday in January. The one million dollar suit against Tweed will be tried afterwards.

Wendell Phillips at school was a grave, conscientious, honorable boy, at the head of his class, and during a school rebellion he had a medal struck bearing the words, "Resistance to tyrants is obedience to God!"

The following singular advertisement is taken from the London Daily Telegraph: "Wanted by a clergyman of the church of England, a chapel for christian worship. Not Popish or Pagan. To be opened for service without any connection whatever with the now Apostate Church of England."

MINNIE MAY'S FORTUNE.

BY ETHEL.

A dreamy, radiant afternoon in mid-July, the clock pompting to the hour of four, the scent of newly-mown hay filling the air, and the crimson billows of the clover meadows rising and falling softly at the touch of the summer wind, and one brown-winged robin warbling his roundelay in the upper boughs that brushed the dining-room windows at Merton Farm—this was the scene and the season.

Miss Tabitha Merton, during the months of July and August, received a few friends, who were allowed to share the expenses of the household. And somehow, Miss Merton continued to subsist very comfortably for the rest of the year on the July and August contributions of her friends.

Upon this glowing summer afternoon, when the cherries winked at you from behind their leafy veils, and the currants hung like ruby fringes on the bushes that lined the garden fence, Miss Merton was making custards in her kitchen.

"Minnie," said Miss Merton.

"Yes, aunt," said Minnie May, with a nervous jump.

"Get me the nutmeg," said Miss Merton, "and don't stare about you so."

"Yes, aunt," said Minnie, presenting herself with the nutmeg grater in hand, and a fine pink color on her cheek.

"How old are you?" demanded aunt Tabitha, transfixing her niece, so to speak, with the twin moons of her spectacles.

"Seventeen, aunt Tabitha."

"Then," retorted aunt Tabby, "you are a great deal too old to go trailing about the woods with Mr. Harcourt."

Minnie grew pinker than ever.

"I didn't trail about, aunt Tabitha. I only walked as far as the Rowtor Rocks to see the view, which he said was as fine as anything on the Rhine."

"Fiddle sticks!" said aunt Tabby. "Look here, Minnie, you mind your business, and let him mind his."

"Yes, aunt," said frightened Minnie.

"Now mind what I say," persisted Miss Merton, grating savagely away at the brown nutmeg.

"Yes, aunt," fluttered Minnie.

And she went back to the table-cloth she was mending, and cried quietly over it, she didn't quite know why.

And all this time, Mr. Ernest Harcourt, the gentleman in question, was strolling homeward through the woods, with Miss Adela Brownson leaning on his arm, while Mrs. Brownson, a portly matron in black grenadine and a Spanish scarf, was making believe to read a novel on the veranda, and in reality watching restlessly for Adela to make her tardy appearance.

"It's too ridiculous for anything," said Mrs. Brownson to herself, impatiently brushing a fly off her book. "I believe Addy would flirt with a plow-boy if she could find no one else. And the first thing she knows she'll be committing herself in some way or other. And doctor Fenton's nephew coming here in August, too. It's outrageous, that's what it is."

When Miss Adela at last emerged from the shadow of the woods, her broad gypsy hat trimmed with ferns and wild roses, her lips all wreathed with smiles, and Ernest Harcourt walking by her side, her lady mother received her with no particular graciousness of welcome.

"I thought you were never coming!" snapped Mrs. Brownson.

"We haven't been gone long, I'm sure," said Adela, innocently.

"Not two hours," said Mr. Harcourt.

"I should think," went on Mrs. Brownson, politely ignoring the young man's interpolation, "that you would know better than to go out on such a broiling day as this, and tan yourself as brown as a berry."

Adela laughed. She knew that a high color was becoming to her.

"I shall cool off directly," said she, sinking gracefully upon a bamboo settee.

"And in the meantime," said Ernest, who was one of those clear, dark brunettes, whom no rise of temperature ever seems to affect, "I will go and get that volume of poems that we were talking about."

Mrs. Brownson scarcely paused to hear the retreating ring of the young man's footsteps before she opened all her verbal batteries upon her daughter.

"Addy," cried she, wrathfully, "I am astonished at you!"

"You're always being astonished at me, mamma," pouted the young lady.

"To spend your time flirting with a mere traveling photographer!"

"It's so dull here," reported Miss Brownson, "and one must do something."

"Oh, yes!" scornfully spoke the matron. "But you'll find out presently, miss, that you're playing with edged tools. You'll fall in love with him."

"I, mamma?" echoed Adela, contemptuously. "What do you take me for?"

"Or he with you!"

"That's a great deal more probable," interposed Miss Brownson, with a conscious toss of her head that set all the ferns and roses to quivering.

"And then," added indignant Mrs. Brownson, "what is to be the end of it?"

"The end of it, mamma?"

"Yes, the end of it!" and Mrs. Brownson elevated her voice with some energy.

"Well, you needn't shout," said calm Adela, placidly fanning herself. "The end of it will be that I shall amuse myself until Doctor Fenton's nephew appears on the scene, with his three hundred thousand dollars; and then—why, I shall go in for business."

"Yes; but Adela—"

"Mamma," angrily interrupted the daughter, "don't be a fool! Ernest Harcourt is very good looking and very agreeable, but I should no more think of marrying him than of allying myself to a chimney sweep. Love in a cottage never would do for me. I have been expensively brought up; my tastes are luxurious; I must marry well!"

And all this little family discussion went on under the open casement of the second story apartment, in which Mr. Ernest Harcourt was looking for the fugitive volume of poems.

"A chimney sweep, eh?" muttered Mr. Harcourt, with a comical expression on his face. "And Dr. Fenton's rich nephew? I wish Miss Brownson joy of the wealthy match she has in contemplation—and I shall be most happy to make my bow and step aside."

And he put the book back on the table.

Yet, with all the philosophy one can muster, it is not pleasant to awake suddenly to the fact that one has been made a plaything of—and Mr. Harcourt, in spite of the off-hand way in which he took the tidings, had a little sting yet smarting in his inner consciousness.

As he went slowly down the back stairs a little sob reached his ears. It was Minnie, curled up in one corner like a wounded kitten.

"Why, Minnie, what's the matter?" kindly asked the traveling photographer.

"I'm going away," sobbed Minnie. "I've broken aunt Tabitha's best china tea pot, and she says she won't have me in the house another day; and indeed—indeed it was cracked before!"

"Where are you going?"

"I don't know," said Minnie.

She looked so pretty and disconsolate, so like a rose-bud that has been beaten down by the rain, that our hero paused in spite of himself.

"But you have no home?"

Minnie shook her head.

"Then what is to become of you?" questioned Harcourt.

"I don't know," again uttered Minnie.

"Minnie, look here!" Mr. Harcourt's heart, in its rebound, was very tender and susceptible. "I'll give you a home."

"You, Mr. Harcourt? But you can't."

"But I can, if you will consent to marry me!" asserted the young man.

"I?"

"Yes, you."

"But I am only Minnie," she persisted.

"You are as beautiful as an angel, and as innocent as a dove! Don't shrink away, my dear, dear little girl. Answer me, yes or no. Will you give yourself to me?"

And Minnie, letting him take her hand in his, whispered—

"O, I love you so much, Mr. Harcourt—I love you so much!"

Of course there were various criticisms when it was ascertained that Ernest Harcourt was actually married to blue-eyed Minnie May, the old maid's niece and drudge in general.

"Tastes differ," said Miss Brownson, contemptuously.

"What can you expect of a traveling photographer?" said her mother.

Just as the argument was waxing spirited, a carriage drove up, and a white-haired, aristocratic-looking old gentleman descended therefrom.

"Doctor Fenton," cried aunt Tabitha. "My dear sir, I am delighted to see you here."

"Many thanks, I'm sure," said the old gentleman, with the air of one who is accustomed to be made much of. "But, pray, don't trouble yourself I've come to see my nephew!"

"Your nephew?" said the old lady, blankly. "Is he staying in this part of the country?"

"At this very house."

"But there's no one of the name of Fenton here!"

"Who said his name was Fenton? It's Harcourt—Ernest Harcourt. He's just got married, and I am here to welcome his wife into the family."

And the belle of the establishment realized with a strange, stunned sensation, that the match of the season had risen and set forever upon her matrimonial firmament.

"O wearisome condition of humanity!"

How many wretched homes in our land! How many heart-broken invalids! Life with many signifies a mere onerous existence. All are subject to disease, but when health is removed the hope is nearly gone out. Sickness is usually incurred through exposure or carelessness. Especially is this true with those diseases peculiar to woman. Through her own imprudence and folly she is made to drag out a miserable existence—a source of annoyance and anxiety to her friends, and any thing but a comfort and pleasure to herself. Exposure to the cold at times when she should be most prudent, and overtaxing her body with laborious employment, are both fruitful causes of many of the maladies from which she suffers. Gradually the bloom leaves her checks, her lips grow ashy white, her vivacity departs, she continually experiences a feeling of weariness and general languor, and altogether presents a ghostly appearance. What does she need? Should she take some stimulating drug, which will for the time make her "feel better," or does her entire system demand reparation? She requires something which not only will restore to health the diseased organs, but will tone and invigorate the system. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will do this. It imparts strength to the diseased parts, brings back the glow of health, and restores comfort where previously there was only suffering.

Every invalid lady should send for "The Peoples Common Sense Medical Adviser," in which over fifty pages are devoted to the consideration of those diseases peculiar to Women. It will be sent, post-paid, to any address, for $1.50. Address, R. V. Pierce, M. D., World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y. Agents wanted to sell this valuable work.

The Massing of Troops--The South Carolina Result--A Cabinet Meeting --Disasters to American Shipping--A Sensational Rumor.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Counting all arms, with the marine corps, the military force here is about 1,200. There is no excitement about the matter. The District government is a very feeble affair, and there have already been signs of turbulence. Wm. E. Chandler, telegraphing from Florida, claims the State for Hayes, but says it is close.

The Herald's special says regarding South Carolina: "The result of the election may be briefly summed up on the Democratic side as follows: The election of Governor and Lieut. Governor; a gain of seven State Senators and thirty-one Representatives, which gives a majority and secures the return of a Democrat to the United States Senate; a gain of two Congressmen; a gain of five Solicitors out of eight, the election of the Comptroller-General; and probably of the Attorney-General and Superintendent of Education.

A MUSEUM FOR CHAPEL HILL.

Circular Letter From the President of the University.

UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA, CHAPEL HILL, Nov. 20, 1876.

Directions for skinning birds, collecting and preserving insects plants, reptiles, minerals, &c., have been prepared by W. H. Smith Professor of Natural History in the University, and printed for the use of those who are willing to aid in equipping the Museum of the University. A handsome hall has been set apart for the Museum, and we earnestly request the friends of the institution to co-operate with us in filling it with samples showing the wonderful resources of the State. We want animals, plants, minerals, ores, soils, and whatever else, natural or artificial, which will illustrate those resources and be useful for teaching our students.

Our friends should not be afraid of sending us too many things. Surplus specimens can be exchanged with other Museums. We have already received offers to furnish us with the product of the West, South America and the Old World in exchange for those of North Carolina, and we feel sure that at no distant day we will have a Museum which the people of the State will visit with pride and from which they will derive substantial benefit.
